More About High Adventure

Sea Kayaking/Canoeing:

Camp Parsons is one of only a handful of Boy Scout camps operating a saltwater aquatics program. Its location on Puget Sound provides outstanding canoe or kayak treks. Scouts paddle along the shores of the Hood Canal, experiencing unmatched scenery and wildlife while meeting the challenges of navigating and planning, wind, weather and tide.

Hiking:

Camp Parsons is located near some of the best hiking trails in the Northwest, many developed or first hiked by Scouts from the camp. Depending on the trip the group chooses, you will be hiking 35-50 miles in 5 days. There will be opportunities for cross country treks, day hikes from a base camp, and times to relax in your trail camp or go fishing.

How to Register

Registered Scouts or Venturers must be at least 13 years old by January 1, 2011, have earned or demonstrated knowledge of First Class requirements and be in good health. For mountain climbing treks, participants must be at least 14 years old by January 1, 2011. Participants can register as a unit or as individuals. Unit insurance is required for out-of-council units. Adult leaders are welcome but not necessary. All participants must pass the swim test to attend Canoe or Kayak High Adventure.
